Death Toll Nears New 3 Day Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Christmas weekend death toll in highway traffic rose Saturday at a record rate as millions of motorists moved through dangerous driving weather. The fatal tally reached 459.

Snow, freezing rain and strong winds spread into the heavily traveled eastern section of the nation.

CHICAGO (AP)—The toll of holiday traffic deaths in Illinois rose to 22 on Christmas Day. Many fatalities were caused by treacherous weather conditions.

A young couple died Saturday in a crash at Herrin. They were Daniel Declue Jr., 21, and Frances Mattingly, 18, both of Herrin.

In another Christmas Day crash, James A. Curran, 19, of Waterloo, was killed. His car struck a culvert near Red Bud beside Illinois 3.

Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council, said: "The traffic death toll is running disturbingly ahead of last year's Christmas experience when the final toll was 578. Unless the rate falls off, this could be the worst three-day Christmas."

The present record for a three-day Christmas period is 609 set in 1955.

The council had estimated before the holiday that 560 to 660 persons would be killed in traffic during the 78 hours from 6 p.m., local time Thursday, to midnight Sunday. The current rate of deaths would far exceed the preholiday estimate.

It appeared, on Saturday afternoon, to be climbing toward the all-time death toll for any Christmas—706, which was set during the four-day period in 1956.

For comparison with nonholiday weekend fatalities, The Associated Press counted traffic deaths throughout the nation between 6 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 9, and midnight Sunday, Dec. 12, when 428 persons were killed.

The current holiday death toll showed a high trend almost from the outset as a storm off the Pacific Ocean hit Washington and Oregon with unusual combinations of snow and icy rain.

Dangerous weather developed across the northwestern quadrant of the country during the weekend and a storm which had hit the southern Rockies and Southwest severely moved across the Great Plains, the Midwest and Ohio Valley.

Saturday this storm carried its severe icing, high winds and snow into Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, where the Weather Bureau posted hazardous driving warnings for motorists. By Sunday, it appeared that the storm would bring its somewhat depleted strength to bear on the nation's most heavily populated region along the north Atlantic coastal plain.

With millions of cars on the move, the national fatality toll appeared trending close to a record annual high mark of 49,000 for this year.

The Christmas weekend attrition included a bus accident fatal to 12 persons almost at the outset of the tally period. A Greyhound bus went out of control on icy pavement between Grants Pass and Medford, Ore., and overturned.

The front wall of the cabin gave way, the gendarmes said, spilling some of those aboard. The torn cabin continued its slow pace to the terminal.

First reports said the passengers were mostly school children, but officials later said (Continued On Page 13)

Hopes For World Peace Surround Christmas '65

By The Associated Press

An so another Christmas passed, but tinsel and toys and hopes for peace sustained the Yuletide spirit through most of the troubled world Sunday. There was joy in family reunions.

Among thousands of holiday travelers around the globe, pilgrims lingered in Bethlehem for Sunday worship and sightseeing at that Judean hill town where Jesus Christ was born.

The Christmas cease-fire in Viet Nam—4,000 miles from Bethlehem—seemed to raise a possibility, however nebulous, of a further break in the five-year war.

Gen. William CM Westmoreland, the U.S. commander, was reported to have ordered American combat units on the expiration of the truce at midnight to avoid firing the first shot in any resumption of hostilities. That would put the issue of renewed war or a longer truce up to the Viet Cong.

Queen Elizabeth II of Britain broadcast the suggestion: "We will certainly achieve nothing unless we go on trying to remove the causes of conflict."

Pope Paul VI, prominent among advocates of negotiation, thanked the chiefs of state in Saigon and Hanoi for the cease-fire and prayed to God to help them make it the start of a permanent peace.

In his tradition blessing to Rome and the world, the Roman Catholic pontiff praised all who had any part in this "noble and generous truce, full of new consoling hopes."

Added to muted lesser quarrels was a frontier row between Iran and Iraq, Mideast neighbors. Iran charged that Iraqi MIG fighters have staged five raids on Iranian border villages in the past two weeks, killing four Iranians and wounding 20. But barriers were down again for movement between the Israeli and Jordanian sectors of Jerusalem and the Berlin wall opened for a visit by 100,000 West Berliners to relatives in the East.

Christmas Day brought the pealing of church bells, feasting and a happy exchange of gifts among millions in the United States. But foul weather and traffic casualties in some cases shadowed the celebration.

Christmas Day brought rain, sleet and snow to wide sections of the United States and unseasonably high temperatures to others.

American deaths on the highways through the holiday weekend—6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Monday—were expected by the National Safety Council to reach between 560 and 660.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Luci Baines Johnson, the president's younger daughter, and her fiancé attended midnight Christmas Mass Saturday within an hour after announcing they will marry late next summer.

Luci, 18, and Patrick John Nugent, 22, drove three miles from the LBJ Ranch to St. Francis Xavier Catholic church in Stonewall for the services.

Luci and Pat remained at the ranch when the President, Mrs. Johnson and the older presidential daughter, Lynda, 21, drove 15 miles to Fredericksburg for 10 o'clock Holy Communion services at St. Barnabas Episcopal church.

The President was first to receive Communion, followed by the First Lady and Lynda. Nugent, a June graduate of Marquette University, and Luci met on a blind date in Milwaukee last June. They have been going steady almost ever since and there have been reports they were engaged, and the President had talked them into waiting a year or two. The White House declined to confirm or deny these reports.

But it was made official late Friday night during the Johnson family get-together beside a ceiling-high pine tree in the ranch living room. There was an exchange of family gifts. Then Nugent produced a three-diamond ring. First he showed it to the President and got approval to slip it on the third finger of Luci's left hand.

Mrs. Johnson wore her inaugural outfit to the church services. It consisted of a red coat, matching hat, with a velvet ribbon on the hat and velvet on the coat collar.

Lynda wore a red suit which her parents gave her for Christmas. She covered her head with a large white lace mantilla.

The President wore a dark gray flannel suit. The Johnsons joined in the singing of Christmas hymns, with the President and Lynda sharing a hymnal.

After the services, the Johnsons drove back to the ranch where they planned a quiet day and the traditional Christmas dinner to which some kinfolk and close friends were invited.

Nugent, a member of the Wisconsin Air National Guard, has been stationed at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio for the past month.

After two weeks' more training there, he will be transferred back to Milwaukee for another 10 weeks of training. Then he will return to civilian life as a reservist. He will be required to attend monthly drills.

The round-about announcement of Luci's engagement did not say where the wedding would take place but there was speculation that the White House might be the scene. Both House might be the scene. (Continued On Page 13)

Viet Fighting Resumes After Christmas Lull

WASHINGTON (AP)

The Communists mounted widespread attacks in South Viet Nam Saturday, shattering the Christmas lull in fighting.

Sources reported "full-scale operations" were underway in South Viet Nam, with more than 70 incidents reported. Some of the actions were of company size.

The initiative was taken by the Communists, it was reported, with U.S. forces reacting to meet the assaults.

It was emphasized that the resumption of fighting had occurred only in South Viet Nam. This indicated that the United States had not resumed bombing attacks against North Viet Nam.

U.S. troops had been instructed, in effect, to sit tight as the 30-hour truce ended at 11 a.m. EST and to wait for the other side to start the fighting again.

"The war is back where it was before the truce," said one source.

The State Department formally accused the Communists of initiating shooting incidents. It said these forces "continue to act with great restraint." But it said also that American and Vietnamese units "have replied effectively" to fire.

One U.S. soldier was reported killed in one of the shooting incidents in what officials here called the 1st Corps area, and 15 were wounded.

The death of the American serviceman was flashed to Washington by U.S. military leaders in Saigon, and details were not immediately available.

This indicated that the Christmas truce was breaking down and that the war was being resumed after a lull that had carried from early Christmas Eve through Christmas night—30 hours in all plus additional hours of only minor incidents Saturday.

Other Viet Cong attacks were reported in the Third and Fourth Corps Areas in the southern part of the country. The attack on the Marines was in First Corps, the northernmost corps area.

The nature of widely scattered attacks appeared to rule out the possibility that they might be called misunderstandings and not violations of the cease-fire. On Christmas Eve Viet Cong mortars were fired in the Chu Lai area, but U.S. military spokesmen said that was the result of misunderstanding due to lack of communications and was not considered a violation.

The Viet Cong themselves had announced they would observe a cease-fire from 7 p.m. Christmas Eve to 7 a.m. Christmas morning. Except for the Chu Lai incident, that apparently held up.

The United States and Vietnamese armed forces had announced they would observe a 30-hour cease-fire from 6 p.m. Christmas Eve to midnight.

Christmas night. The Viet Cong incidents occurred within that period.

No officials were available who would comment on whether the actions that were reported to have taken place Saturday meant that the Vietnamese war would revert to the situation that existed before the guns fell silent on Christmas Eve. There had been much high level pressure for an extension of the Christmas truce toward negotiations that might bring a halt to the fighting here.

Radio Hanoi and other Viet Cong propaganda outlets were silent concerning appeals from various world figures for an extension of the truce.

High on the list of these was one from Pope Paul VI appealing directly to the leaders of North and South Viet Nam to turn the Christmas cease-fire into permanent peace. He said he prayed "that responsible chiefs of state be helped to make this peaceful Christmas a step toward the establishment of a just and fraternal peace for all Viet Nam."

A dispatch from Washington said Westmoreland's action presumably reflected unwillingness on the part of President Johnson's administration to take the initiative in quickly restarting the war. A Viet Cong attack would shift the burden to Communist shoulders.

The opinion among various sources was that the outcome was unpredictable, that fighting might break out again at any moment or might be long delayed in what would seem like a spontaneous continuation of the cease-fire.

American officials, too, were operating under wraps in this delicate situation and U.S. State and Defense Department spokesmen withheld any immediate comment.

Hazards ahead are reflected in the fact that, though the Christmas truce orders were widely publicized on both sides, both a Viet Cong and an American unit did some shelling in the opening hours Friday night.

Both incidents were blamed on poor communications.

A Viet Cong mortar crew lobbed seven rounds near the U.S. Marine base at Chu Lai on the South China Sea coast 340 miles northeast of Saigon. They caused neither damage nor casualties.

"It was no more than a matter of poor communications," a U.S. spokesman said. "In no way can this be considered a breach of the cease-fire."

Battery A, 1st Battalion, 77th Artillery of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division dropped dozens of 105mm shells on Viet Cong trails in the area of An Khe, 240 miles northeast of Saigon, until halted by a call from division headquarters.

"We simply did not get any (previous) official word from the division," said the battery commander, Capt. O'Neill Crocker, Union, S.C.

Ski Lift Accident Kills 6

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France (AP)—A lumbering aerial cableway cabin cracked open and dropped a score of Christmas vacationers 230 feet down a snowy mountainside Saturday. Police reported six dead and 11 injured.

Officials at the scene earlier reported eight killed and a dozen injured. Later they said five bodies were found in the snow and one of the injured died in a hospital. Confusion apparently arose in the count between a battling helicopter and the ground crew.

Thirty-four other persons managed to stay inside the gaping cabin. The doorman was reported to have hung on with one hand and a child was suspended by one foot before being pulled to safety.

The cabin was reported swinging by a momentary cut in the electrical power. It also was hit by a high wind. One source said it banged against a support pylon or protruding rock as it approached the upper terminal on the summit of 6,187-foot Puy de Sancy, a volcanic cone in the Massif Central in south-central France.

The front wall of the cabin gave way, the gendarmes said, spilling some of those aboard. The torn cabin continued its slow pace to the terminal.

First reports said the passengers were mostly school children, but officials later said (Continued On Page 13)

High Winds, Snow, Sleet Hit Midwestern Regions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fast-moving Christmas storm charged eastward Saturday across the Great Lakes and upper Ohio Valley, snarling holiday weekend traffic and snapping utility power lines.

It heaped snow on southern Michigan and northern Ohio, and glazed roads farther south with sleet and freezing rain. The Weather Bureau warned of driving hazards in southern Michigan, Ohio, Pittsburgh and western New York State.

The snowfall in Milwaukee totaled 10.5 inches and made driving difficult or impossible on roads in Wisconsin south of Appleton. Many rural roads were blocked by drifts.

Chicago was hard hit by a combination of sleet, slushy snow, rain and raw, gusting winds which made power lines brittle and then broke them.

Drifts 5 to 6 feet deep in the thumb area of Michigan hampered movement of 20 emergency crews sent out by Detroit Edison Co. to repair power line breaks. St. Clair County suburbs of Detroit had snow drifts which blocked some streets and secondary roads.

In Detroit, itself, snow fell Saturday after a 3-inch rainfall on Friday. In Lansing, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, state police reported snowfall measured about 6 inches.

A power line snapped under weight of ice and wind during the night south of Bay City, depriving some 750 homes of electricity. At Northville, a Detroit suburb, 250 homes in an area of four square miles were blacked out by a power failure.

Clouds broke up in Chicago late Saturday after the storm deprived about 100,000 persons of electrical power for their homes, knocked out about 2,000 telephones, and flooded the south suburban section of Robbins and Markham, driving residents from some 80 homes.

The evacuees were given hot Christmas dinners by the American Red Cross.

The backwaters came from the Little Calumet River which overflowed after nearly six inches of rainfall Thursday.

In the Far West, heavy snow hit the High Sierras and kept skiers indoors at Lake Tahoe slopes. Autos were stalled in the Donner Pass approaches. The interstate highway through the pass was closed.

Wind-piled drifts sealed off the high skiing area. The snowfall measured 2½ feet on the summit area at Donner and at least 4 feet fell in Squaw Valley.

Dire Prophecy Of Starvation

"Within the coming 10 years, literally millions of people will die of starvation and hundreds of millions will lead stunted lives unless the underdeveloped world quickly acquires the ability to feed its soaring population."

This alarming claim, made in an article in International Science and Technology magazine, is supported by mathematical certainty.

The world's population, which stands at about 3.2 billion today, will rise to 4 billion by 1980 and will more than double by the year 2000. The important factor is that most of this increase will occur in Asia, Africa and Latin America — areas which even now cannot meet their food needs adequately.

Most people, notes editor Howard Mattson, confidently look to modern science to solve the problem. One possibility being talked about is a protein supplement that could be made by micro-organisms such as bacteria, fungi and yeasts "grazing" on coal and crude oil.

Another, slightly more attractive, is a fish meal made from the whole fish — innards, heads, scales and all.

Yet although the technology may exist to produce sufficient foods to meet the basic need, they would be so unfamiliar to local tastes and habits that there would be too few consumers to support their production as long as even limited supplies of customary foods were available.

Nor is the simple redistribution of surpluses from one part of the world to another the answer. New mouths in the underdeveloped world will require 300 million tons of additional grain annually by 1980 — the current total production of North America and Western Europe combined.

The present U.S. stockpile of wheat, which once seemed so huge and permanent, contains only about 29 million tons and is beginning to shrink. Some congressional and farm leaders are already proposing that crop controls be ended and that the money now being paid American farmers not to produce be spent to buy increased supplies for the needy abroad.

Yet even if enough food can be grown in the developed world, ships, harbors and distribution facilities are inadequate to handle it.

The bulk of new supplies, maintains Mattson, must come from within the hungry nations themselves. This means huge educational programs to convert backward farming populations to new methods and new crops.

It means the shipping of vast quantities of fertilizer to the underdeveloped nations while they are building their own fertilizer plants.

It means an indefinite continuation of foreign aid on the part of the United States, an expenditure of talent and money which must, out of enlightened self-interest, take precedence over our most favored scientific projects.

Ultimately, however, the article warns, no amount of short-range agricultural expansion will head off catastrophe unless it is coupled with long-range population control.

A Return To Roar-ism

Stalin and his reign of terror are long gone. One-time powerful figures in the Soviet Union are now removed bloodlessly.

It may be dishonorably, as in the case of a Khrushchev, or honorably, as in the case of a Mikoyan. But the important thing is that men are retired with their heads still fastened to their bodies, not liquidated at night on some unknown execution ground.

Lamentably, however, some things remain the same. One is the medieval mystery that still surrounds the inner workings of the Kremlin. Another is the invincible righteousness in which official Soviet pronouncements are still clothed.

After a period of silence, amounting to almost tacit co-operation with the United States in the pursuit of world peace, the present mover and shaker of the Kremlin, Mr. Kossygin, has reverted to the old line of blaming this country for all the world's troubles.

It would be as tedious to repeat all of Kossygin's charges as it was fruitless for James Reston of the New York Times, first American reporter to interview him, to attempt to answer them.

Soviet officials, says Reston, do not converse with foreigners; they compete. There is no searching for understanding in conversation, no effect at accommodation of the mind, not the slightest suggestion that the Soviet Union has ever been wrong or acted unwisely.

It is true that Russian verbal attacks in the past have spoken as eloquently of internal pressures on the Kremlin leaders as they have spoken distastefully of international ones. And words are certainly preferable to bombs.

But any fond hopes that the Communists were reaching a level of diplomatic maturity that would permit real East-West dialogues on Viet Nam, Berlin, disarmament or any other problem have now been most effectively killed.

It will be a long time before they are resurrected.

Dear Ann:

Offers Advice To Dimension-Wacky Women

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: If I read one more letter from a girl who complains because she has nothing to put in her brassiere I think I will scream. My problem is just the opposite and believe me I would gladly change places with any of those "Flat Florences."

I've had this problem ever since I was 13. I used to walk down the school corridors carrying my books in front of me and slouch-shouldered at that. By the time I was 16 I wouldn't have dared to wear a sweater or a blouse cut on the bias. It was almost impossible to find a dress that would fit. It was always four sizes too tight on top or three sizes too large across the waist and hips.

My bras had to be custom made, with special padding under the straps—and even then the straps dug into my shoulders and caused a great deal of discomfort. In addition to the physical discomfort, I am the target of cheap jokes.

I hope you will publish this letter, Ann. It may silence the moaners and groaners who feel inferior because they are under-endowed. Thank you. —BIG BERTHA (MY HIGH SCHOOL NICKNAME.)

If you haven't discussed this problem with your physician, you should do so. There "is" help for you. Meantime, I hope your letter will help to bring our dimension-wacky readers to their senses.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a strong letter about mental hospitals. Now, if you have the nerve, please print something about the way former mental patients are treated when they try to obtain employment.

I was never violent, dangerous or destructive. My problem was severe depression. Periodically I'd lose interest in everything. I had no desire to get out of bed.

After two years of therapy I was a changed person. I left the hospital eager to face the world. After four unsuccessful interviews (during which I told the truth regarding my whereabouts for the preceding two years) I began to catch on. Nobody wanted to take a chance on an "ex-out."

I decided to omit that part of my history and was hired on my fifth try. The moral of this story is this: If you've ever served time in a mental hospital, or even had an appointment with a psychiatrist, forget to mention it when you go looking for a job. —SINS OF OMISION

Dear Sins: I know of no employment form which asks if a person has been hospitalized in a mental institution or received psychiatric treatment. I see no good reason to volunteer this information during a job interview. Speaking for myself, I would be inclined to favor the person who had some psychiatric orientation because of the insight and understanding he could bring to the job.

Dear Ann Landers: My boy, longest lasting odor.

friend gave me a ring for my 20th birthday. We planned to be married next year.

Last week he told me I could keep the ring as a souvenir if he wanted out. He also said he preferred not to tell me the reason, but I finally got it out of him. It is my mother. He says he just can't stand her because she is so nosey and talks all the time. According to him we would never be able to lead our own lives and he would rather not get into this kind of a family.

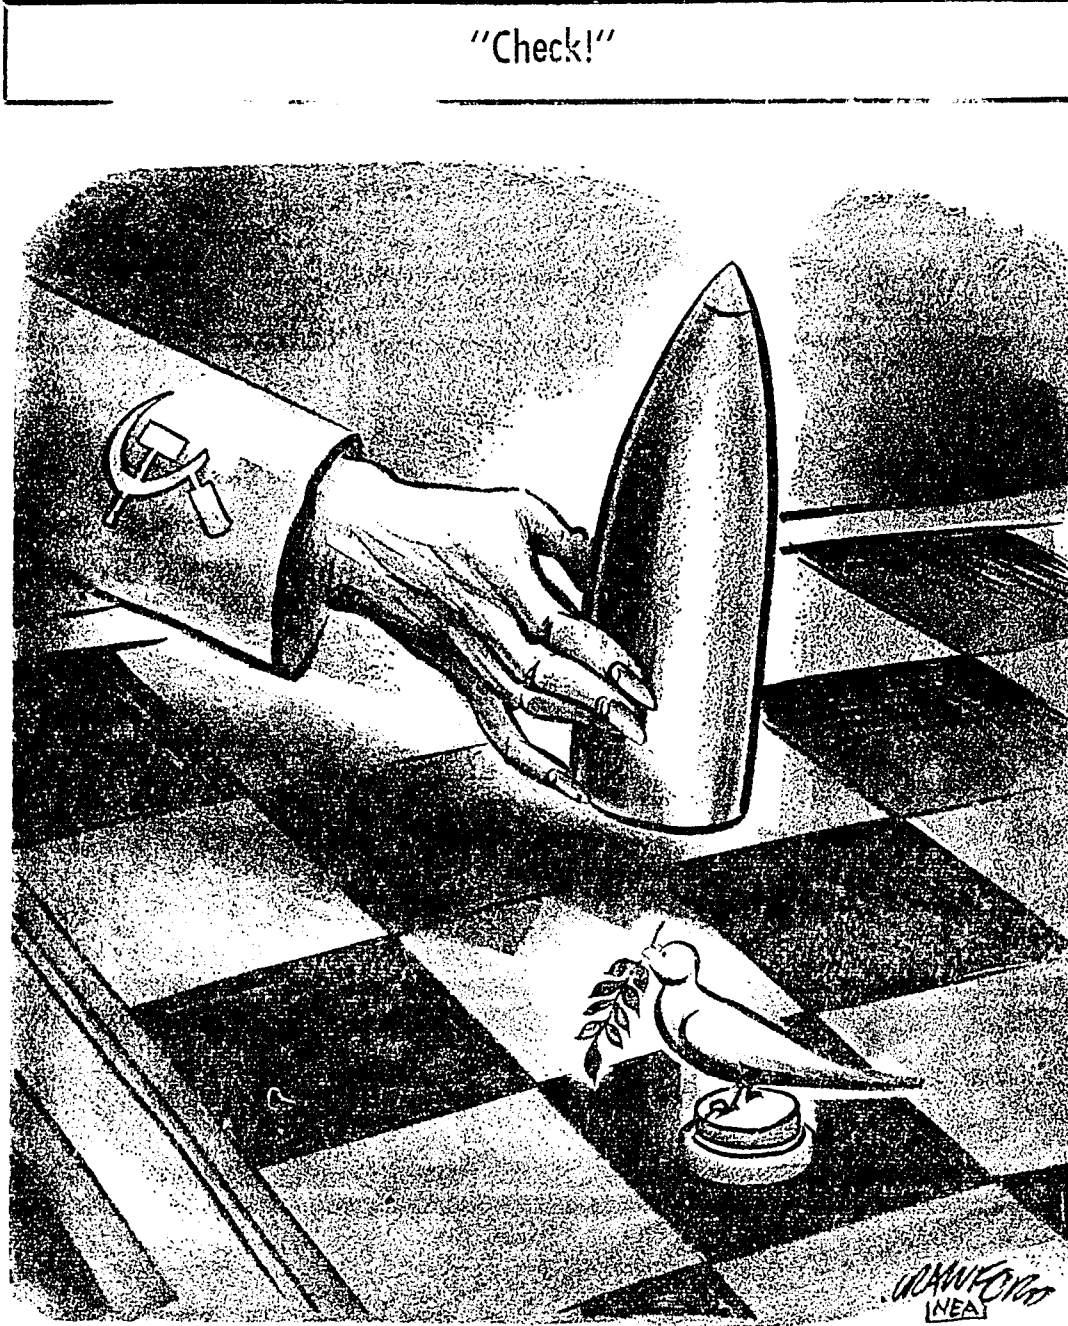

These past few months I caught him in a few lies and wondered if maybe he wasn't seeing another girl. I am so confused I don't know what to think.

I feel now that I must choose between my mother and my fiancé. I believe if I promised to keep my mother away from him he would go through with the plans. What shall I do? —HALF CRAZY

Dear Half: If a boy says he doesn't want to marry you what difference does the reason make? This character sounds flakey. My advice is to give him his ring and tell him to buzz off.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Texas Sen. Tower Takes

By WASHINGTON STAFF

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sen.

John Tower of Texas was an ardent supporter of conservative

Barry Goldwater for the U.S.

presidency. Indeed, after Barry

he was the favorite of many conservatives. But in late 1965

he seems to be bucking for the title of Moderate of the Year.

Some of Tower's helpers recently expressed keen interest in the th-igs John Lindsay did in New York to win the mayoralty despite normally heavy

Democratic majorities in the city. Said one:

"The senator has a very similar problem in Texas. We have to get a lot of Democratic votes to win.

"And, you know, we've got a lot of nuts in Texas. We have to be careful the senator doesn't become the captive of the far right."

There is word, too, that at least some of Tower's campaign literature doesn't mention the word Republican.

Few of the nation's conservatives who so berated Lindsay

this fall for shunning the GOP label in New York City imagined that one of their heroes might be running as the John

Lindsay of Texas.

One of the games on the Washington cocktail circuit is figuring out who all the other guests are at a party. A newcomer can run into problems,

as former Postmaster General

Edward Day found out when he was told at his first reception that a distinguished-looking foreigner was the governor of Puerto Rico.

"At a reception a week later,"

Day recalls, "the 'governor' explained that he was, in fact, the ambassador from Peru and therefore could not enlighten me on the subject of Puerto Rican politics."

An aide to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York tapped on the office door of another top

Rockefeller assistant. The first one asked:

"Can I have a car sign?"

The other man dug into a drawer and came up with a sign reading: "Official Business

—Office of the Governor."

It turns out that the signs disappear quickly if not closely guarded. Said the aide who wanted the sign:

"What really got me was seeing one of these on a flashy red sports car at the curb in the Bronx one day. A young cat came out, tucked the sign in his glove compartment, and roared off."

Despite rumors of interdepartment squabbling in the Office of Economic Opportunity,

OEO's top brass unites publicly on at least one front: reaction to the disciplinary problem in the Job Corps — which recently reached a climax with a riot at a Kalamazoo, Mich.,

camp.

Gist of this reaction is that

"Boys will be boys."

Even Sargent Shriver, OEO

boss, has gotten into the act.

But Shriver's comparison of the Job Corps youths to World War II sailors on shore liberty caused several OEO officials to winced.

"I remember my shore patrol duty with the Navy," said

Shriver. "Whenever a battleship docked and the crew went on leave, we certainly had as much unrest as we had recently in Kalamazoo."

Mature Parent

The Reward for Virtue

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

To a reporter, a young returned, Peace Corps veteran said, "I think we were led to believe that people would seek us out on our return to America, that we'd move at once into panicked offices and hop airplanes to conferences in Geneva. Instead, many of us have met rejection in jobs."

Apparently, as the result of official suggestion that they would be rewarded for their virtue by imposing home jobs,

our young, returning Peace

Corps people are having to move through a period of disillusion known to its officials as the "re-entry crisis."

It isn't a necessary disillusion.

And instead of continuing to impose it on the fine young Americans who volunteer for Peace

Corps work, I hope its authorities will get some signs painted for their interviewing offices

reading "VIRTUE IS ITS OWN

REWARD." Then the fine

young people will stop expecting

American employers to meet them at their home piers and airfields with offers of vice presidencies and deanships.

It is cruel to tell children and young people that they can count on reward for virtue.

us was rewarded for his virtue by crucifixion.

And lying to the young about this truth is the one lie they do not forgive.

It is also extremely stupid to lie to them about it. Whether we are parents or Peace Corps

officials, we are extremely stupid to suggest that worldly reward results from virtue. That is because when the worldly reward is not forthcoming, the child's or young person's feeling is,

"The heck with virtue. As nobody obviously is going to me candy or a paneled office in return for my virtuous performance, there's no point in virtuous performance. Maybe

I'm a fool to have tried to be good."

Yes, that's what the "re-entry crisis" actually means for these fine young ex-Peace Corps-men of ours. It means decision between continuing social concern and a cynical rejection of it.

If there is one truth we owe to children and young people it is the truth that virtue is its own reward. It is our profound-est moral obligation to say,

"Child, to be good is something one tries to be for oneself. Even

Dixon - Jackson

A four-thirty o'clock ceremony Christmas Eve, December twenty-fourth united in marriage Miss Linda Kay Jackson and Richard Lee Dixon. The nuptials were solemnized by the Reverend William K. Sturges of Central Christian church in Annie Mermer Chapel on MacMurray College campus.

White roses in gold altar vases adorned the altar. Miss Mahala McGeehe was at the organ for the prelude.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford K. Jackson, 1840 Mound Road. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Dixon, 871 North Church street.

Mrs. George Manker and Willard Hickox attended the couple. Guests were seated by Mr. Manker and Murvel Smith, Jr., cousin of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a satin and lace wedding dress in beige tone and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses. A satin circlet headdress with velvet bows and roses, which matched her wedding dress, held her shoulder length veil.

Mrs. Manker wore a pastel aqua wool costume trimmed in matching color satin. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

The bride's mother wore an iridescent bronze-gold silk dress with gold accessories. The mother of the groom wore taupe chiffon over satin with matching hat. Both wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

A reception was held at the Dunlap Motor Inn where the bride's aunt, Mrs. Edward Jackson, was in charge of arrangements. Assisting with courtesies were Mrs. Judy Javid and Mrs. Willard Hickox. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon will make their home at 514 North Prairie street.

Both the bride and groom graduated from Jacksonville High School. The bride received her BA degree from MacMurray College and is a substitute teacher at Illinois School for the Deaf. The groom is employed at J. Capps and Son.

Among the out of town guests present for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Murvel Smith, Jr., of Crystal Lake; Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Hullerman, Gross Pointe Farms, Michigan, aunt and uncle of the bride and Mrs. Ida McMann, Springfield, aunt of the groom.

CONTROL THAT ACNE

Shaggy hair does continue to aggravate teen-age skin problems. Both boys and girls suffer from acne. They need to follow a strict diet and cleanliness routine. Frequent shampoos aid the complexion, especially among those favoring the bangs and long hair bit.

DRAMATIZE BEAUTY

Shadizers do much to bring a new look to a woman's face. Use of a dark shader over make-up helps create dramatic hollows in the cheeks, narrows a wide face or nose or minimizes a double chin.

Mrs. Richard Lee Dixon

Sandra Carlene Miller

Announcement is made by her mother of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Sandra Carlene Miller to Michael Harte DeHesus of Wauconda, Illinois. Miss Miller is the daughter of Mrs. Esther Miller, 604 Webster avenue and the late Robert A. Miller. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. DeHesus of Wauconda. A January twenty-second wedding is planned.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Millikin University and the Deatur Macon County Hospital School of Nursing. She is employed as a registered nurse at the Deatur-Macon County Hospital.

Mr. DeHesus also attended Millikin where he was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity. He is taking Army Intelligence training at Fort Holabird, Baltimore, Maryland.

The Evergreen Tree At Christmas Time—What Does It Mean?

The traditional use of evergreen trees during the Christmas season brings Americans into close contact with the fragrance and freshness of the forest. Christmas trees probably do more to mark the period of "peace on earth, good will toward men" than any other product of the soil.

The first reference to trimmed Christmas trees in the United States appears in the record of the American Revolution, when Hessian soldiers—recently from Germany—made use of them. However, the practice did not gain much headway in this country until about the middle of the 19th century, when, after a year of controversy and doubt, it became an established custom in Cleveland, Ohio, says University of Illinois extension forester T. W. Curtin.

The Christmas tree went through a long process of development. Some historians trace the lighted Christmas tree to Martin Luther. He attached lighted candles to a small evergreen tree, trying to simulate the reflections of the starlit heaven—the heaven that looked down over Bethlehem on the first Christmas Eve.

Popular in Germany Until about 1700, the use of Christmas trees appears to have been confined to the Rhine river district. From 1700 on, when lights were accepted as part of the decorations, the Christmas tree was well on its way to becoming a tradition in Germany. Then the tradition crossed the Atlantic with the Hessian soldiers. A description of Christmas festivities at Fort Dearborn, Ill., in 1804 mentions a Christmas tree.

Some people trace the origin of the Christmas tree to an earlier period, says Curtin. Even before the Christian era, trees and boughs were used for ceremonial purposes. Egyptians, in celebrating the winter solstice—the shortest day of the year—brought green date palms into their homes as a symbol of "life triumphant over death." When the Romans observed the feast of Saturn, part of the ceremony was the raising of an evergreen bough. The early Scandinavians are said to have paid homage to the fir tree. To the Druids, sprigs of evergreen holly in the house meant eternal life; while to the Norsemen, they symbolized the revival of the sun god Balder. To those inclined toward superstition, branches of evergreens placed over the door kept out witches, ghosts, evil spirits and the like.

evolved solely from paganism, any more than did some of the present-day use of greenery in various religious rituals. Trees and branches can be made purposeful as well as symbolic. The Christmas tree is a symbol of a living Christmas spirit and brings into our lives a pleasant aroma of the forest. The fact that balsam fir twigs, more than any other evergreen twigs, resemble crosses may have had much to do with the early popularity of balsam fir used as Christmas trees, says Curtin. Just how Christmas tree decorations, other than lights, developed is not clear. It may be that tufts of cotton and strings of popcorn were used on the branches to represent snow, somewhat as Luther used candles to represent lights on the snow-flecked evergreens. Such fruits as apples were easy to attach to Christmas trees and added color, as did strings of cranberries. Pictures or replicas of food-stuffs, like hams and bacons, were once used as substitutes for the real items that were too heavy for slender branches.

The idea of decorating trees may have grown from a practice, adopted by early dwellers of the forest, of hanging certain foodstuffs in trees to get them out of reach of prowling animals. On the other hand, many people worshipped trees and often hung gifts of food in the branches as offerings or sacrifices to the deities. Giving to others was a Christian trait; hence the gifts were hung on "Christian trees" or Christmas trees, Curtin suggests.

RECIPE FOR A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Take the crisp cold of a December night, add two generous parts of snow, stir in air so clear it tinkles. Into a generous heart, mix the wonder of a little girl, the sparkle of a young boy's glance, the love of parents, and set gently before the chimney side. Add the lightest touch of a reindeer's hooves, a sprig of holly, a scent of fir. Set the mixture to rise in the warmth of a dream of good will to men. It will be almost ready to serve when it bubbles with warmth and good feeling. Bedeck with the light of a star set in the East, garnish with shining balls of gold, silver and red. Serve to the tune of an ancient carol in the middle of the family table. This recipe is sufficient for all the men and women you will ever meet.

From The Corn Crib! A third grade teacher had played "Silent Night" on the school's record player and had asked the children to draw a picture which it suggested to them.

After a while she went on an inspection trip. Here she saw a star shining on snow-capped hills. Next desk had a stable with a donkey outside. The third had a manger scene. At the fourth desk the little boy had drawn a fat roly-poly man and nothing else.

The teacher asked, "What in the song does this man represent?"

The little boy replied, "Whv, that's Round John Virgin."

There's More of Everything Downtown Jacksonville

By BUFORD GREEN Sports Editor RUNNING COMETS CUT WIDE TRAIL

You would have a hard time convincing anyone these days that basketball isn't strictly a big man's game, but you might have difficulty proving it to the high-flying Chandlerville Comets right now, for that matter for the past couple of seasons.

Chandlerville fans had very little to cheer about for quite a few years during the middle '50's until three seasons ago when the Comets made their presence known in their area and in the PMSC.

The Cass County school of only 86 students has counted records of 21-7 two years ago, 18-6 last season and are currently breezing along with a 9-1 mark, scoring buckets like they were going out of style.

The most remarkable fact about the Comets' recent success is that they don't have a man over the six foot mark, and haven't had too many in the past three years.

Probably one of the most pleased individuals about the whole thing is personable coach Bob Gregurich, who right now has a composite record of 48-14 in his three seasons at Chandlerville, after leaving Northwestern High in Palmyre.

"Carroll Logue, Dean Eilers, Delbert Force and Wayne Gurnsey are all about 5-11 or six foot," says Gregurich. "I've really never measured them. Bill Collins and Lindell Garner are about 5-8. We start six men really; Garner starts against a man-to-man defense, and Eilers against a zone."

"We play a running game. We bring it out and let it go. Especially this year. The keys to our running game are that the kids handle the ball real well and they are quick. We work on it in practice, and use drills for it."

"We were kind of forced into the running game, with no size, but luckily the kids do a good job with it."

"We just picked up the running game along the way. I started out here with boys who could go, they just had the natural ability to run, and just picked up a little here and there."

"It helps to have the boys who can run. Our kids get rid of the ball real quick after a rebound, and we do have unusually good rebounding for our size. The first pass is the big one. The kids seem to have the uncanny ability to release the ball at just the right time."

"Gurnsey usually gets the rebound, or Eilers, they are our leading rebounders, and they hit Collins or Logue going down and 'away we go.' These boys won third in the state grade school lightweight tournament, and were beaten by Lincoln in the quarterfinals in the heavyweight division in the 8th grade. We actually have three classes in high school now who went to the state grade school tournament."

"I had them in grade school for two years, and we ran some but not as much as now because grade schoolers can't handle the ball as well."

Logue and Collins, who both started as sophomores are now in their third season of varsity competition. Logue is averaging 19 points a game and Collins 18.5. The Comets can throw some impressive offensive statistics your way: as a team Chandlerville is shooting 45%; Logue is shooting at a hot 54% for the year, and Collins 45%; Chandlerville hit 57% in four straight games, in two of which the Comets scored over 100 points.

"Garner doesn't score much, but he's usually worth at least ten points more because of his real good defensive ability, usually on the other team's best shooter. Gurnsey and Eilers have played some real good ball for us right along. They rebound real well."

"Dan Dearing (5-9 junior) and Hal Carlock (5-11 senior) have both played quite a bit and have done a good job coming off the bench. Both have hit in double figures a couple of times as seventh and eighth men."

The future doesn't look so dark as one might expect. Small schools usually run in cycles of good and bad, but the Comets have quite a bit to look forward to.

The current Comet junior varsity is unbeaten (10-0), and the juniors were 6-5 as sophomores. Two of the sophomores are already 6-1 and growing.

The lone Chandlerville loss was to P.M.S.C. powerhouse Porta early in the season. Gregurich says, "Porta has a real fine team. We were ahead by six and they put a press on us and in two minutes were up by ten. I can't remember when a press has hurt Chandlerville before, because they handle the ball so well."

"I think the PMSC looks good for us right now. Porta plays at Trippia and we meet Trippia at our place."

"Our boys have a real fine attitude now, and that's a must for a winning team. Sure, the coach helps, but he's not too good if he doesn't have the boys."

"Right now the boys are shooting for the best Chandlerville record they've ever had here. I believe the best ever was in 1952-53 when they lost only two or three games. These kids have had a lot of other firsts, now they're pumping for that."

Area Prep Tournaments Go Monday

Four high school basketball tournaments involving local and area prep outfits get underway Monday, and a fifth opens play Tuesday.

Getting the jump on area teams will be the always popular Waverly 16-team tournament which opens with six games in three separate sessions Monday.

Beardstown opens its eight-team meet Monday afternoon and Pittsfield its four-team, Round Robin affair Monday evening.

The second annual Carbondale Tournament, another 16-team meet, opens play Monday morning and will squeeze eight games into the first day. Jacksonville meets Olney in a 4 p.m. contest Monday. The Crimsons, defending champs, are the only area team entered.

The Illinois Valley Conference meet, a seven-team affair, kicks off a three-day run Tuesday at North Greene High in White Hall.

Waverly's first - day lineup looks like this: Lincolnwood vs. Waverly at 9 a.m.; Northwestern vs. Mt. Olive at 10:15; Kincaid vs. Pawnee at 2 p.m.; Morrisonville vs. Franklin at 3:15; New Berlin vs. Athens at 7:30 and Worden vs. Auburn at 8:45.

A second full day of three sessions will follow Tuesday at Waverly, with Glenwood facing Girard at 9 a.m. and Virden meeting Routt at 10:15. From there the winners of first round play will square off and the last two days will have games only in the evening, with the title game scheduled for 8:15 Thursday.

Beardstown's meet begins with two games in the afternoon and a pair in the evening. Top-rated Central Camp Point plays Brown County at 1:30; Carlinville tangles with Macomb at 3:00; Virginia plays Havana at 7:00 and Beardstown faces Bowen at 8:30.

Four games will again be staged on Tuesday, two in the losers' bracket and two in the championship bracket. The finals in each will be held Wednesday.

Pittsfield will have two games for each of three nights; beginning with Trippia meeting Northwestern of Sciota Monday at 6:30 and Pittsfield playing Warsaw at 8.

The IVC meet open with three games Tuesday evening, and conclude with two the next two nights. Tuesday's games have Carrollton meeting Winchester at 6:00; North Greene taking on Greenfield at 7:30 and Calhoun facing Southwestern at 9:00.

Grabo, Garrett Match Talents In East-West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mike Garrett of Southern California and Jim Grabowski of Illinois match their All-America talents Friday in the 41st annual East-West football rivalry which through the years has been amazingly close.

The West won the first three games starting in 1925. In the next 37 games, each has won 16 times with five ties.

After 39 games, each had scored 461 points. The West forged ahead in the last game by a margin of two safeties, winning 11-7 in a sea of mud at Kezar Stadium.

Garrett, the Heisman Trophy winner, and Grabowski, who just signed with Green Bay at a reported $250,000, play with All Star supporting casts. Each defensive unit boasts an All-America with Minnesota's defensive end Aaron Brown for the East and linebacker Carl McAdams of Oklahoma for the West.

Head coaches John Ralston of Stanford for the West and Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse for the East each plan forms of the spread offense.

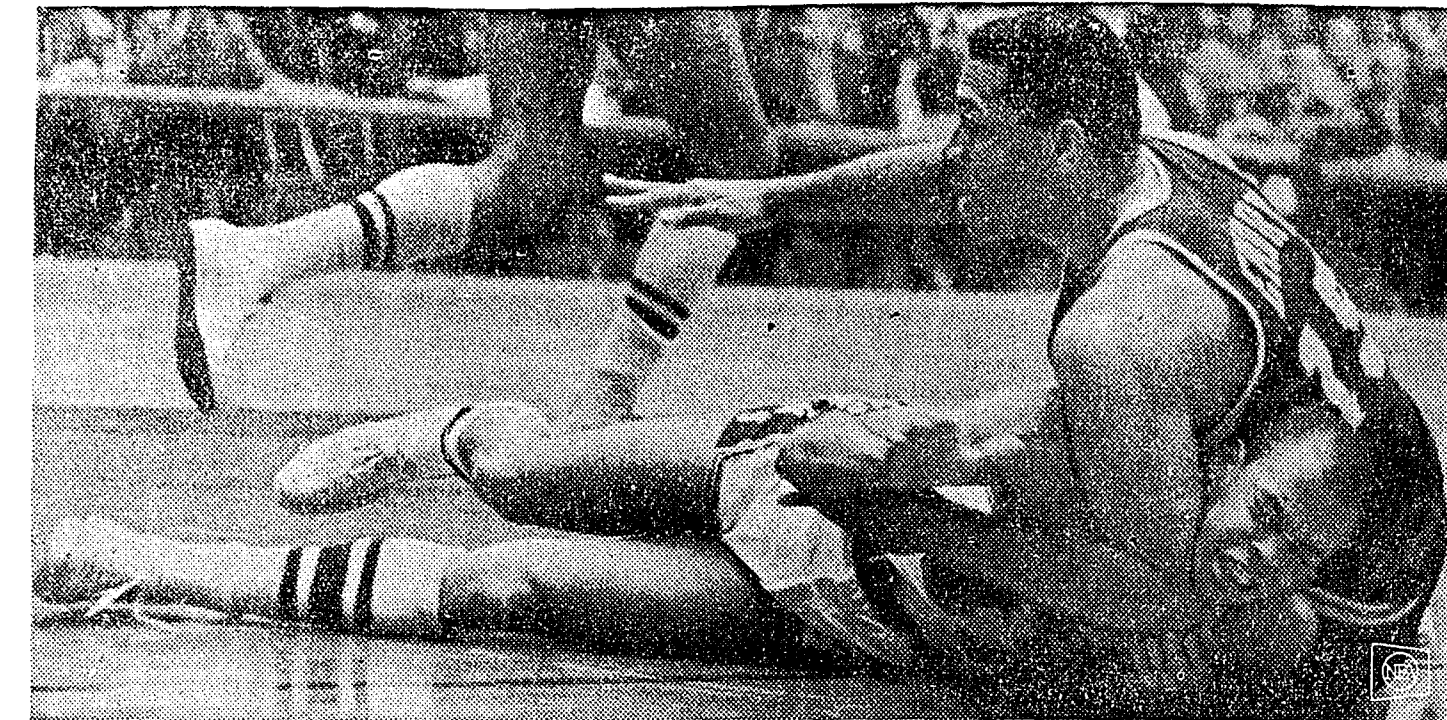

The kickoff is scheduled at 1:45 p.m. with a crowd of about 55,000 expected. With the game on a Friday instead of the usual Saturday, early ticket sales were not as brisk as usual.

Still officials hope the lure of stars like Garrett and Grabowski will draw a full house from Kexar and boost proceeds for crippled children's hospital past the $5 million mark. Through 40 games, the contributions were $4,772,618.

Garrett finished his USC career with a new NCAA rushing record for three seasons, 3,221 yards, topping by 45 the mark set by Ollie Matson who wound up his career at the University of San Francisco in 1952.

Grabowski broke the Red Grange records at Illinois and broke all major Big Ten records for rushing in the 1964 season when he carried 210 times for 966 yards in seven league battles. Overall, he gained 1,258 and finished second in the national rankings.

HAZZARD-OUS DUTY—It looks like it, but actually it's not professional wrestling. Instead, it's professional basketball. The combatants are Wayne Embry (15) of the Cincinnati Royals and Walt Hazzard, below, of the Los Angeles Lakers. Give Embry three points for a near-fall.

South Rally Nips North By 23-19

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Rangy Randy Johnson put on a spectacular passing display in a South comeback that toppled the North 23-19 Saturday in the annual Blue-Gray football game.

The Texas A&I quarterback, playing against rivals from major colleges for the first time, completed 20 of 33 passes for 308 yards, all Blue-Gray records. He tossed two touchdown passes and scored once himself in the All-Star battle marred by a brawl in the final minutes.

Bill Briggs, Iowa tackle playing for the North and one of four Negroes playing in this game for the first time, was in the thick of the free-for-all.

Teammates joined in the battle before the swinging players were finally separated.

The game ended with three players from the North bench apparently racing onto the field to tackle North Carolina's Anthony Gilmont after he intercepted a Blue pass.

The Grays took an 8-0 second half lead before halfback Bob Riggles of Penn State ignited a Blue comeback by intercepting a pass and recovering a fumble. The North converted both opportunities into third quarter touchdowns to take a 13-8 lead before Johnson sent the South on its winning surge.

Johnson, voted the game's most valuable player, hit on passes of 20, 13 and 21 yards in a 75-yard drive he capped with a one-yard scoring plunge that cut the North lead to 19-16. The 6-foot-4 sharpshooter then tossed a nine-yard touchdown strike to end Harlan Lane of Baylor for the winning points with 25 seconds left.

Johnson Takes Over
That opportunity was provided when the South took the ball on the Blue 49 with two minutes left and Johnson threw passes of 20 and 28 yards.

The other South points came on a safety in the first quarter when North quarterback Fred Custarde of Illinois was tackled in the end zone by Florida State's Jack Shinholser.

Willard Sander of Ohio State scored the North's first touchdown with a four-yard run late in the second period. Riggles set up the North's next score when he recovered a fumble on the South's five after Doug McFalls of Georgia dropped a punt.

Ron Acks of Illinois scored for the North two plays later.

The last North touchdown was on a one-yard run by Custarde which capped a 52-yard drive after Riggles intercepted a Johnson pass.

Both the South and the North had Negro players. Eugene Thomas of Florida A&M ran back kickoffs for the South and saw limited duty at halfback. Johnny Holmes, Florida A&M tackle, played briefly for the South.

Briggs on several occasions appeared to be involved in showing matches with the Southern players. He and end Jim Long of Purdue, only Negroes on the North team, were defensive standouts for the Blue.

40th Anniversary Edition Of Globetrotters Here Dec. 31

Make way for the 40th anniversary edition of the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters!

The world's most exciting basketball aggregation comes to Jacksonville on Dec. 31 at 8 p.m. for a game against the potent Washington Generals from the nation's capital.

Sharing the bill with the two power-packed quintets will be the celebrated Bratislava Slovakian Folkloric Dancers from Czechoslovakia, an ensemble of 40 dressed among the world's finest troupes of its kind.

Abe Saperstein saw the group in action on one of his many trips to Europe and immediately signed it to accompany his Globetrotters.

And Leroy ("Satchel") Paige, the legendary pitching man of baseball, also will be present as a Trotters traveling executive. The great man of the mound, who came back at the end of the last baseball season, to pitch for the Kansas City A's in the American League, also fits well into one of the Trotters' great comedy routines — their takeoff on baseball.

Clay Aids South Rally In 21-14 Win

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bill Clay of Mississippi sped 39 yards with a stolen pass Saturday, clinching a wild fourth period and led the South to a 21-14 victory over the North in the Shrine's College All-Star football game.

Clay's big run came seconds after Allen McCune of West Virginia, called into action to replace Tulsa's record-breaking passer, Bill Anderson, had directed the Rebels to a touchdown and two-point conversion that tied the score.

Except for the sudden eruption by the South, the game's hero would have been Nick Rassas of Notre Dame, the man who led the nation in punt returns during the regular season.

Furious with himself for fumbling the ball on one runback, Rassas made up for it dramatically a moment later by streaking 90 yards with another for a touchdown that put the North in front 14-6.

Rassas won some consolation when a press box vote named him the most valuable player of the North. Miami's Ed Weisacosky, who accounted for the South's first touchdown with a jolting tackle, was named the best of the Rebels.

Passing Duo Stymied
McCune was called into action when Anderson and Howard Twilley, the Tulsa aerial combination which broke almost all major college passing records, was stymied by the North defense.

The North was in control most of the first half, but had to settle for a 6-6 tie at intermission when the South scored an easy touchdown.

Dan McGinn of Notre Dame, trying a kick from his end zone, was knocked loose from the ball by Weisacosky and Doug Buffone of Louisville recovered at the North one. West Virginia's Dick Lettridge dove in for the score.

Don Unverferth of Ohio State had led the North 73 yards to the game's initial touchdown, hitting Randy Minnear of Purdue with a seven-yard shot for the score.

Bob Bruggers of Minnesota led the blitz on Anderson in the first half, dumping him for losses of 12 and 16 yards.

Anderson's second pass of the game was intercepted by Paul Faust of Minnesota and another was stolen by Tony Carey of Notre Dame.

The North went ahead 8-6 early in the fourth when McCune was dumped behind his goal by Randy Beisler of Indiana and Bill Rider of Ohio State.

But McCune came right back to lead the Rebels in for a touchdown, scored by Lettridge on a one-yard dive, and then passed to his West Virginia teammate, Bob Dunlevy, for two points that tied the score.

North 6 0 0 8-14
South 0 6 0 15-21

Opponents Lineup
Item No. 2 on the Saperstein list is the choice of a powerful opponent to cope with the Trotters to assure a pleasing game for the fans. The honor has again fallen to the very capable Washington Generals, assembled by Louis (Red) Klotz, the former Villanova University and pro ace, who has assembled a tall and efficient array of college and pro talents.

It's a lineup embracing hold-over veterans in Frank Sarnicki, 6-9, University of Akron; Orb Bowling, 6-10, University of Tennessee; Bob Williams, 6-2, Rutgers; Sam Sawyer, 6-6, sensational New Jersey prep, and Klotz, a 5-7 playmaker, himself.

The Generals have come up with a 6-10 phenom in Frank Stephens, last year's leading scorer at Virginia State University whom the Trotters themselves would like to own; Gene Mrozinski, 6-3, Indiana State College; John Elliott, 5-11, Union College of Montreal, Canada, and Don Dillon, a 6-3 competitor who made it big right out of New York prep ranks.

'Sudden Death' In NFL Today

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Baltimore Colts and the Green Bay Packers battle for the elusive Western Conference crown Sunday in a National Football League "sudden death" playoff game that may prove to be a tale of two quarterbacks.

One of the quarterbacks is the Colts' Tom Matte who will play a quarter back against the league's most deadly defensive team because Coach Don Shula has nobody else to replace the injury-shelved Johnny Unitas and Gary Cuozzo.

The other is the Packers' Paul Hornung, the Golden Boy who two weeks ago regained some of the glitter worn away by a lack-luster season when he scored five touchdowns against the Colts.

The Packers won that game 42-27 beating the Colts for the second time this season.

A similar performance by Hornung last Sunday would have clinched the conference crown for the Packers, but Hornung was in action for only two series of plays before a rib injury sidelined him.

The best the Packers could do was tie the 49ers 24-24, forcing a playoff.

No Tie Sunday
There will be no tie Sunday. Should the score be even after the regulation time, there will be a sudden death period that won't end until one team has scored.

The Colts, the most respected passing team in football until the twin shocks of losing both Unitas and Cuozzo, still have a superb collection of receivers in Jimmy Orr, Raymond Berry, John Mackey and Lenny Moore. But Matte, who has not been a regular quarterback since leaving Woody Hayes' "three yards and a cloud of dust" offense at Ohio State in 1960, has given no proof that he can hit those receivers. In fact, he may not even try.

The Colts, who stayed alive in the race by defeating Los Angeles 20-17 eight days ago, used Matte sparingly as a passer in his second and biggest exposure as a pro quarterback.

Threw Only Twice
Matte threw the ball only twice, and didn't complete a pass. Instead, he ran with the ball chiefly in rollouts.

The rollout is not likely to be a lethal weapon against the Packers who are buttressed at the ends by All-Pro Willie Davis and an improved Lionel Aldridge.

Both the Packers and the Colts have been unspectacular in the latter part of the season. The Colts in fact have been in a slump since the Sunday before Thanksgiving when they squeezed by Philadelphia 34-24.

After that they tied the Lions, 24-24, lost 13-0 to Chicago, then lost to Green Bay and finally edged the Rams.

The Packers have won only four of their last eight games, losing to the Bears, Lions and Rams and tying the 49ers. "We've had an unusual season," Lombardi said. "We've not been good offensively, yet we've had enough points to win and still we have an 11-3-1 record and overall that's pretty good."

National Title
For '65 On Line
1st Day Of '66

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
College football's national championship for 1965 will be decided on the first day of 1966 when three New Year's Day bowl games will show off the contenders Big Four — Michigan State, Arkansas, Nebraska and Alabama.

Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska take 10-0 records into action Saturday and rank 1-2-3. Alabama is right behind at No. 4 with an 8-1-1 record, but it undoubtedly would take a long-shot parlay for the Crimson Tide to take the title.

Bama meets Nebraska in the Orange Bowl at Miami, a night-time extravaganza these days. Before that, Michigan State plays UCLA in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., and Arkansas meets Louisiana State in Dallas' Cotton Bowl.

Alabama could grab off a second straight national crown if it convincingly beats Nebraska and both Michigan State and Arkansas are convincingly upset. These last two are highly unlikely taken separately and barely inside the realm of possibility taken together.

Thus, look for the championship to go to Michigan State or Arkansas.

Outside the Rose, Cotton and Orange, the weekend bowl affairs are contests of not much significance.

Friday Program
On Friday the program has Georgia Tech, 6-3-1, vs. Texas Tech, 8-2, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and Texas Western, 7-3, vs. Texas Christian, 6-4, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. Rounding out the New Year's Day schedule, Missouri, 7-2-1, will play Florida, 7-3, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La.

There also is Friday's East-West game at San Francisco, one of the many all-star matches that dot the post-season season.

Michigan State's mighty Spartans have a record of success against UCLA and are solidly favored to add another victory to the string. They have scored twice over the Bruins in Rose Bowl play and beat them 13-3 in the regular season opener this year.

All-America Steve Juday quarterback for the Big Ten champions from the Midwest and directs a powerful offense spearheaded by halfback Clint Jones. Harold Lucas, a massive 286-pounder, anchors the Michigan State defensive line while George Webster, another Spartan All-American, is in the defensive backfield.

High Winds

The storm began as a general frontal divide in Montana Thursday and Friday which dropped nearly 6 inches on south suburbs of Chicago, then turned into sleet and snow Friday night.

Temperatures dropped below freezing as gusty north winds lashed the state. Some gusts up to 60 miles an hour were reported in the Decatur vicinity.

The evictees were fed Christmas dinner at Harvey's Y.M.C.A. by the American Red Cross.

Commonwealth Edison Co. reported that 900 repairmen worked Christmas Day restoring power to Chicago homes. Utility crews were busy in other sections, also, but power stoppages were cleared up for the most part early Christmas Day.

Decatur's police department was a blackout victim, and the headquarters crews went about their business with emergency lights.

Luci, Pat

Luci and Pat are Catholics, but in the case of a President's daughter some well-informed sources said it would be possible to get permission for the ceremony away from a church.

Nugent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nugent of Waukegan, Ill. His father is an investment counselor and a life-long Catholic. Luci became a Catholic on her 18th birthday July 2 when she was baptized at St. Matthew's Cathedral in Washington. The President, Mrs. Johnson and Lynda attended the baptism.

Luci graduated from the National Cathedral School for Girls, an Episcopal institution, last spring. She is a freshman in the Georgetown University School of Nursing.

Luci's mother and sister are Episcopalians. Her father is a member of the Christian Church, but frequently attends Episcopal services with the First Lady.

they were random family groups. The dead were said to be adults.

The cabin was reported to have been set swinging by a gust of wind and broke open as the occupants lunged against the front when a momentary cut in electrical power brought it to a sudden stop. There were earlier reports that it had hit a support pylon or a protruding rock, as it neared the terminal on the summit of 6,187-foot Puy de Sancy, a volcanic cone in the Central Massif in south-central France.

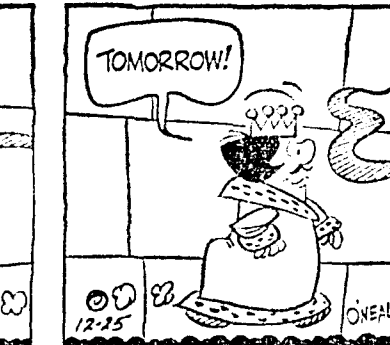

Authorities identified all the dead as French, including the director of an Orleans vacation club and three youthful members on a ski trip. The victims fell on a steeply slanting, ice-covered rock face and skidded to the bottom.

Firemen and gendarmes sped to the rescue by foot and helicopter. Most of the snow had drifted into the area of the Val d'Enfer—Valley of Hell—in a storm Friday night. The injured were taken to hospitals in nearby Mont Dore, a resort town, and Clermont-Ferrand.

The aerial cableway was built recently near another one which went into operation in 1937.

The accident was the worst of its kind in France since Aug. 20, 1961, when a French air force jet slammed the tow line of a cableway in the Alps near Chamonix, releasing a string of small cabins which jumped the

New York Stock Market

GRAIN PRICES GAIN DURING PAST WEEK

CHICAGO (AP)—Influences in the grain futures market were somewhat more bullish last week and prices of nearly all commodities recovered moderately from the rather broad declines of the previous week.

Soybeans finished with net gains of 2 cents a bushel at the extreme and wheat with well over a cent on all deliveries. Oats and rye posted fractional gains, corn eased.

Analysts expressed belief some of the recovery was nothing more than a technical correction indicating the market had become slightly oversold.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1 1/4-1 1/2 cents a bushel higher than the previous week, March $1.69-69 1/2; corn 1 1/4-1 1/2 lower, March $1.24 1/2-25; oats 1/4-3/4 higher, March 70 1/2; soybeans 1 1/4 to 2 cents higher, January $2.65 1/2-2 1/2.

Making of a ton of charcoal takes 2.2 cords of hard wood, preferably oak, beech, birch, hickory or maple.

Eve. volume totaled 32,224,961 shares compared with 47,744,400 for the full five-day week preceding.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average finally managed to better the historic closing high of 961.85 it made on Nov. 4 and the average advanced again on Friday, closing the week at a record peak of 966.36, a net gain of 8.51.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks also made record highs on Thursday and Friday. The AP average advanced 1.5 on the week, closing at its record of 357.7.

Selective gains by blue chips accounted for the rise in these averages. American Telephone, for instance, recovered 2 1/2 after sinking to two-year lows in recent weeks.

Of the 1,557 issues traded this week, however, losers outnumbered gainers by 814 to 578.

U.S. Treasury bond prices showed a little strength during the week. Corporate and municipal bond prices were mixed.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $48.87 million.

R. G. Bedwell Dies At Home In Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — Raymond George Bedwell, 68, was found dead of apparent natural causes at his home, 915 W. Eleventh St., early Friday. Deputy Coroner Carl Wessel will conduct an inquest into the death at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Beardstown City Hall.

Mr. Bedwell is survived by his widow, Flora and one son, Kenneth.

The body is at the Cline Funeral Home. Arrangements are incomplete.

Fire Ravaged Cass Building Ordered Sealed

BEARDSTOWN — Fire Marshal George Perlukas ordered "sealed" the building at Arenzville which was gutted by fire Dec. 18, causing extensive loss for A. C. Hart and Ron Ryan, formerly of Beardstown, who operated the Cass Craftwood Industries.

Perlukas also ordered the fire-gutted Astoria Body company building sealed after it was ruined by a disastrous fire several weeks ago.

Ryan went to Arenzville to pursue his trade after a fire had destroyed his business here a year or so ago. He had a store on Third street between State and Jefferson.

The fire in Craftwood was of undetermined origin and caused several thousand dollars damage. Craftwood, one of Arenzville's newest industries, was established about a year ago to manufacture plastic laminated furniture, wall coverings, and bathroom cabinets.

Cubans Fired Who Seek Exodus

HAVANA (AP) — Thousands of Cubans who want to leave this island have been fired from their jobs but Cuban officials are reported offering many of them farm work.

Qualified sources said Saturday this course of action is being followed to permit these workers to support their families until they leave the country to join relatives in the United States.

These sources said the new Cuban move followed recent orders to fire as many as possible of those who have applied for authorization to leave on the refugee airlift from Varadero to Miami, Fla.

Government officials apparently recognized the potential explosiveness of the situation created by the mass firings, the informants went on. With other jobs difficult or impossible to find, many discharged workmen would have been faced with a critical situation in providing for their families.

Some of those dismissed have protested and a committee is being formed to bring the matter to the attention of the Swiss Embassy, which represents American interests here.

Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelhofer was reported to have told one group he could not intercede officially in the Cubans' behalf but he is known to have talked with Cuban officials on the subject.

Many of those waiting to leave may have to wait for months, even years, before their turn comes up under the present refugee operation.

Informed sources say Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime took another look at the situation after it was pointed out that dissatisfaction, perhaps even demonstrations against the tough measures, could hurt Cuba's image at a critical time.

PERMAFROST

Nearly one-fourth of the earth's surface is permanently frozen ground. Scientific observations suggest that permafrost, as it is called, extends to 1,500 feet deep in northern Alaska and Canada, and even deeper in northern Siberia.

MINESWEEPING

Although U.S. minesweepers cleared the seas of about 10,000 mines during World War II, it was estimated that, after the war, the Pacific Ocean alone still contained about 100,000 mines which had to be swept before safe navigation could be resumed.

Fear Eruptions May Continue In Hawaiian Crater

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — Kilauea volcano's Alohi crater staged a surprise Christmas Eve eruption Friday night, but most of the colorful activity subsided before anyone could penetrate fume clouds to see it. However, earthquake activity continued and scientists were apprehensive about whether the eruption was over. The brief eruption caught them by surprise.

The series of earthquakes which followed the eruption were continuing with one strong enough to be felt every three to four minutes.

Unlike previous eruptions in Kilauea, Alohi crater spewed forth fountains of lava without the usual warnings. Ordinarily there are several earthquakes just prior to an eruption.

Alohi crater — where the last eruption was December of 1962 — is eight miles from the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park headquarters. No populated areas were threatened.

The crater, on Kilauea volcano's east rift, about 30 miles southwest of Hilo, erupted suddenly at 9:30 p.m. Friday and belched lava down the 4,000-foot volcano wall.

The fountains of red and orange-red lava lit up the skies, visible for more than seven miles.

Dr. Howard Powers, scientist in charge of the U.S. Geological Survey's Volcano Observatory on Hawaii Island, said eruptive activity apparently ceased about 3 a.m.

He said the quake activity following the eruption appeared to be shifting westward along the Kaehe fault line, toward the Kau Desert.

No one actually saw the fountains of lava because of its remoteness.
